TOPIC: A 360° APPROACH TO HAND SAFETY

Mr. Basant Kumar Goenka
Executive Director and CEO,
Accent Industries, India

Mr. Basant Kumar Goenka is the Executive Director and CEO of Accent Industries, India. He has more than twenty-five years of experience in manufacturing, sales and marketing, finance and human resource management. With a clear vision to ensure the safety of people in dynamically transforming industries across our Country, he sets-up Atlas Protective Products, a professional brand in PPE to understand the occupational safety needs of user industries in India and protect them from occupational hazards. He has conducted various HIRA and HAZOP studies, worked closely with safety management and user teams, and developed solutions for hand safety, which was the biggest concern across industries. Solutions were developed and also customized, considering the varying working conditions, processes involved, physiological and psychological expectation of users. Using the best of technology, expertise and cost advantage, products and solutions were developed in India and overseas, which are currently being used and protecting more than 2 million people across 800 companies in automobile, cement, metal, oil and gas, chemical, heavy engineering, aerospace and various other industries in India. He is also associated with various industrial associations and organizations that promote the awareness of safety.
